PARENTS: TRUST YOUR INSTINCTS

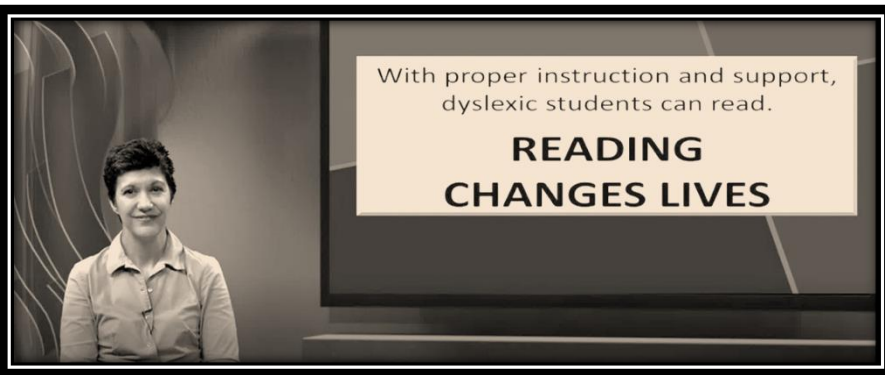

Mahalo to the Annie Sinclair
Knudsen Memorial Fund of the Hawai'i Community Foundation!

Parents and other family members spend the most one-to-one time with their children. Our goal of this presentation is to help parents recognize the signs of dyslexia so that they may seek appropriate help for their children.

FEBRUARY 25 • 5:30 - 6:30 PM

LEARNING TO READ WITH STRUCTURED LITERACY INSTRUCTION

Structured Literacy instruction is important for teaching children with dyslexia to read. In this presentation, we provide an overview of the principles of Structured Literacy, including a tutoring demonstration.

MARCH 25 • 5:30 - 6:45 PM

LIFE WITH DYSLEXIA: A PANEL DISCUSSION

In this show, we hear from three young adults who share their personal perspectives on living with dyslexia. They candidly talk about their successes and struggles in transitioning from high school to college and the workforce.
